

11 January 2021

Due to the severe pressure that the NHS is under at the present time and the increase in transmission of the new Covid variant we are only open for key worker children (we would want to ensure that if key worker children have a second parent at home and they do not fall within the very vulnerable cohort, they stay at home where transmission will be greatly reduced and personal safety increased) and the very vulnerable students.

We will review this position when the vaccine has been successfully delivered to the most vulnerable in our society. This is the first four of the identified vulnerable groups in the government's vaccine strategy.
